Dear Chime Hiring Team,

Process excellence isn't just about writing the SOP—from my experience, it's about a continuous cycle of mapping how work actually happens, analyzing where it breaks down, and refining it through cross-functional collaboration until both the member and the agent have a better experience. With a background in program management, process documentation, and data-driven improvement, I'm excited to bring that mindset to Chime's Dispute Experience team.

At InGenius Prep, I own process documentation, SOPs, and knowledge bases across 20+ programs, and I drive continuous improvement by analyzing program metrics and stakeholder feedback to surface where things should change. I establish cross-functional processes with Marketing, Tech, and Sales teams for 70+ staff—work that reduced onboarding time by 75%—and I translate listening sessions with stakeholders into the programs that move our numbers. That blend of documentation discipline and roadmap-shaping insight is exactly what dispute operations demands.

At Organization Development Network (ODN) Oregon, I facilitate discovery and stakeholder interviews to diagnose operational drivers, and I've upskilled a team to audit 300+ cases and quantify costs—using data analysis to refute assumptions and drive policy and process redesigns. That diagnostic, audit-oriented work maps closely to validating standards and managing compliance reviews.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I optimized onboarding processes across three global locations and assisted in employee relations cases, ensuring compliance with local labor laws and confidentiality—early, formative practice at handling sensitive cases carefully and by the book.

This is how I approach work—uniquely grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC): I diagnose with data, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track key metrics to ensure progress holds. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Chime's mission that everyone can achieve financial progress—and the chance to make dispute resolution genuinely better for members—are both real draws. I'd love to bring this methodology to your team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
