Dear Datadog Hiring Team,

Inclusion isn't just about running events—from my experience, it's about a continuous cycle of listening to what communities actually need, building programs and gatherings that create belonging, and measuring impact so the work keeps getting better. With a background in people program management, DEI initiatives, and data-driven design, I'm excited to bring that to Datadog's Inclusion team.

At InGenius Prep, I develop annual plans and run end-to-end program logistics for 20+ initiatives, including summits, events, and live sessions. I facilitate listening sessions with 25 global stakeholders to translate needs into new programs (78% enrollment rate), coach and mentor program leaders across Marketing, Tech, and Sales teams, and establish metrics and documentation to measure effectiveness and benchmark impact—exactly the planning, coaching, and measurement an inclusion-programming role requires.

At NextGen Healthcare, I provided consultations and internal training on DEI, Inclusive Leadership, and performance review, and analyzed 2,000+ employee responses to surface what drives belonging and engagement—reinforcing that inclusion work lands hardest when it's grounded in real data.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I piloted a DEI Inclusive Leadership workshop for 12 senior leaders that scaled to 23 global locations, and drove engagement through award-winning well-being initiatives—early proof that I can design inclusion programming that travels across a global org.

This is how I approach work—uniquely grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC): I diagnose with data to understand where people don't yet feel they belong, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track metrics to ensure progress holds. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Datadog's scale and the chance to grow Community Guilds and company-wide belonging are both genuine draws. I'd love to bring this methodology to your team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
