Dear Datadog Hiring Team,

Great people support isn't just about answering tickets quickly—from my experience, it's about being a trusted first point of contact, getting employee data right, and building the knowledge resources that let the whole team move faster. With a background spanning HR coordination, onboarding operations, and organizational development, I'm excited to bring that detail-oriented, people-first approach to Datadog as a People Solutions Coordinator.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I lived the coordinator's work: I optimized onboarding processes for new hires across 3 global locations, streamlined relocation logistics by coordinating with cross-functional teams, and helped migrate and merge employee records with high accuracy during an M&A integration. I also supported employee relations cases, which taught me to handle confidential information with care—exactly what employees expect from their first point of contact.

At InGenius Prep, I built the self-service backbone for a busy team: I established cross-functional processes and knowledge-base documentation for 70+ staff that cut onboarding time by 75%, served as the go-to contact for internal and external inquiries on policies and procedures, and used feedback loops to fix recurring issues at the root rather than one at a time. I'm comfortable juggling many requests at once and keeping each one organized—my supervisor has called me the most organized person he's worked with.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC), which trained me to treat operations as a system: I diagnose with data where the employee experience breaks down, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track results to keep improving. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Datadog's role at the center of the AI era and the chance to support employees across their full lifecycle are both genuine draws. I'd love to bring this energy to your People team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
