Dear Faire Hiring Team,

Strong people systems aren't just about entering transactions accurately—from my experience, it's about treating data integrity as the foundation of trust, then continuously improving the workflows and documentation around it through cross-functional collaboration. With a background spanning HR operations, process improvement, and organizational development, I'm excited to bring that careful, systems-minded approach to Faire as your People Systems Coordinator.

At InGenius Prep, I keep the operational engine running: I established cross-functional processes and documentation for 70+ staff that cut onboarding time by 75%, and I manage end-to-end lifecycles for 20+ projects, using feedback loops to find root causes and tighten workflows rather than just patch symptoms. That habit of documenting issues, fixing the underlying process, and improving the system over time is exactly what keeps an HRIS clean and reliable.

At Vestas Wind Systems, data accuracy was non-negotiable: I helped direct an M&A project, migrating and merging employee records with high accuracy, and optimized onboarding processes for new hires across 3 global locations. I learned how much downstream trust depends on getting employee transactions and records right the first time. I'm also genuinely eager to deepen my Workday and workflow-automation skills—I pick up HR technology platforms quickly and enjoy it.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC), which trained me to treat operations as a system: I diagnose with data where processes break down, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track results to make sure they hold. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Faire's mission to level the playing field for independent retailers and the chance to support the systems that keep your People team running well are both genuine draws. I'd love to bring this methodology to your People Operations team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
