Dear OpenAI Hiring Team,

People Operations isn't just about keeping systems updated—from my experience, it's about building the data integrity and process infrastructure that lets every employee-lifecycle moment run seamlessly, through careful audits, process mapping, and cross-functional collaboration. With a background spanning HR operations, program management, and organizational development, I'm excited to bring that mix of rigor and adaptability to OpenAI as a People (HR) Operations Specialist.

At InGenius Prep, my core skill is deconstructing business processes to find root causes and redesigning the workflows around them—work that reduced onboarding time by 75% for 70+ staff. I manage the end-to-end lifecycle of 20+ programs, increasingly leveraging AI tools to automate repetitive administrative work and improve accuracy, and I build the SOPs and documentation that keep cross-functional partners (Marketing, Tech, Sales) aligned. I'm the person who notices the friction in a process and quietly engineers it out.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I supported global onboarding across 3 locations with a focus on timeliness and data accuracy, and directed a Mergers & Acquisitions project that migrated and merged employee records—exactly the kind of high-stakes, detail-unforgiving data work this role calls for. I also streamlined immigration and relocation processes with attorneys and cross-functional teams, learning how to hold compliance and employee experience in the same hand.

At NextGen Healthcare, I analyzed 2,000+ employee experiences and turned feedback data into ad-hoc reporting and actionable reports for the C-suite—reinforcing my conviction that operational excellence is measured, not assumed.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC): I diagnose with data, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track metrics to ensure real progress. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, OpenAI's mission to ensure AI benefits all of humanity—and a People Ops team that values clarity over complexity and builds automations that scale with rapid growth—are genuine draws. I'd love to bring this methodology to your team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
