

Jamie Cheng

A Solution-focused, Data-driven, and People-oriented Professional
Dedicated to Improving Talent Experience

213-700-3831
Portland, OR
(Open to Remote or Relocation)
jamiecheng0103@gmail.com
LinkedIn

May 30, 2026

Dear Replit Hiring Team,

Building an early-career recruiting program from the ground up isn't just about running events on a calendar—from my experience, it's about designing systems that compound: playbooks, metrics, and feedback loops that get better every cycle. With a background spanning program management, campus recruiting, and organizational development, I'm excited to bring that builder's instinct to Replit as your Emerging Talent Recruiting Program Manager.

At InGenius Prep, I stand up and own the end-to-end roadmap for 20+ programs—prioritizing what's in flight, keeping stakeholders aligned, and building the documented playbooks and SOPs that let teams scale without me in the room. I reduced onboarding time by 75% by turning informal knowledge into repeatable systems, and I run regular listening sessions with 25+ stakeholders to surface gaps and design what's next. This is exactly the kind of ownership-driven, ship-the-v1, improve-it-each-season work the role calls for.

Earlier, at Kronos Research, I worked the recruiting funnel firsthand—building talent pipelines, owning campus recruiting events end-to-end, and moderating C-suite panels at top universities that reached 230+ students. Through personalized outreach I grew applications by 566% in two months. I learned early that new-grad recruiting runs on an academic calendar and that the fall season is unforgiving, so I plan ahead and protect the timeline.

At NextGen Healthcare, I analyzed 2,000+ employee experiences and tracked the metrics that mattered to translate field signal into C-suite decisions. That analytical discipline—offer acceptance, time-to-hire, retention—is how I'd run retrospectives and keep program health honest at Replit.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC): I diagnose with data, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track metrics to ensure real progress. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Replit's mission to democratize software creation and the chance to build the early-career engine from scratch—at the intersection of AI and recruiting—are genuine draws. I'd love to build it with you.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng

Jamie (Yi-Chieh) Cheng