Dear Robinhood Hiring Team,

Great people systems aren't just about keeping the HRIS configured—from my experience, they're about treating data quality as the foundation of trust and using automation and AI to free the People team from manual work, all built through cross-functional collaboration. With a background spanning People operations, HR data integration, and AI-enabled process design, I'm excited to bring that systems mindset to Robinhood as your People Systems Manager.

At InGenius Prep, I run operations with an automation-first instinct: I manage end-to-end lifecycles for 20+ projects using AI tools and feedback loops to streamline how work gets done, and I built cross-functional processes and documentation for 70+ staff that cut onboarding time by 75%. I use AI tools daily and have trained 600+ people on adopting them—so designing AI-powered automations that reduce manual HR operations is squarely in line with how I already work.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I lived the data-integrity side of People Systems: I helped direct an M&A integration, migrating and merging employee records across systems with high accuracy, and optimized onboarding processes across 3 global locations. That work taught me how much downstream trust depends on clean integrations and well-governed data across the full employee lifecycle.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC), which trained me to treat systems as exactly that—systems: I diagnose with data where workflows break or create manual toil, collaborate cross-functionally on solutions, and track data quality and outcomes to make sure they hold. I'll be honest that my Workday depth is still growing relative to the role's bar, but I'm a fast, hands-on learner who closes technical gaps quickly. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Robinhood's mission to democratize finance and the chance to build an AI-first People Systems roadmap are both genuine draws. I'd love to bring this methodology to your team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
