Dear Commure Hiring Team,

A successful implementation isn't finished at go-live—from my experience, it's about driving real adoption: diagnosing how a client actually works, managing the change carefully, and tracking the metrics that prove value stuck. With a background spanning program implementation, training, and organizational change, I'm excited to bring that approach to Commure as a Senior Operations Associate on the Implementation team.

At InGenius Prep, I run implementations end-to-end: I drive activation projects for 20+ programs from kickoff to steady state, managing several at once, and I define and standardize implementation methodologies, SOPs, and best practices for 70+ staff—work that cut onboarding time by 75%. I also design and deliver training for diverse user groups (a 78% enrollment rate among 600+ participants) and track KPIs and adoption metrics while coordinating cross-functional teams. That mix of program execution, training, and measurement is exactly what enterprise implementations demand.

Change management is genuinely my craft. At Vestas, I led an Inclusive Leadership initiative across 22 nationalities and scaled it to 23 global locations using the ADKAR framework—building awareness, finding an internal champion, delivering the workshop, and reinforcing it afterward. And at NextGen Healthcare, I drove adoption with clinical and administrative stakeholders, so I understand how healthcare environments work. I'll be candid that building dashboards in Retool or writing SQL would be new to me—but I'm strong with data and metrics, I learn tools fast, and the core of this role (driving adoption through people and process) is squarely my strength.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC): I diagnose with data where adoption stalls, collaborate cross-functionally on the fix, and track results to make sure they hold. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Commure's mission to transform healthcare's trillion-dollar administrative burden—and the chance to own client relationships through activation—are both genuine draws. I'd love to help your clients reach value, fast.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
