Dear Crusoe Hiring Team,

A great workplace isn't just a stocked supply closet—from my experience, it's the quiet, well-run environment that lets everyone else do their best work, built through attention to detail and genuine care for the people in the room. With a background spanning program operations, HR, and organizational development, I'm excited to bring that organized, service-minded approach to Crusoe as a Workplace Coordinator.

At InGenius Prep, I'm the person teams rely on to keep things running: I coordinate logistics and operations for 20+ programs across Marketing, Tech, and Sales teams, juggling multiple priorities with reliability and follow-through, and I coordinate events and meeting logistics—including vendor coordination, scheduling, and follow-up—for programs serving 600+ participants. I also built documentation and SOPs for 70+ staff that support smooth new-hire setup. Being dependable and proactive, the person who notices what needs doing and just handles it, is genuinely how I work.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I optimized onboarding for new hires across 3 global locations and strengthened workplace engagement through an HR newsletter and award-winning well-being initiatives, recognized among 1,000+ competitors. And at Kronos Research, I organized recruiting events and provided responsive, customer-service-oriented support—I genuinely like being the friendly, approachable point of contact who makes people feel welcome.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC), which trained me to think about how environments shape people: I notice where the daily experience breaks down, collaborate across teams on a fix, and follow through to make sure it holds. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Crusoe's mission to accelerate the abundance of energy and intelligence—and the chance to be the front line of a welcoming, well-functioning office—are both genuine draws. I'd love to help create that environment in Brighton.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
