Dear Sierra Hiring Team,

Recruiting coordination isn't just about scheduling interviews—from my experience, it's about treating every candidate touchpoint as part of a system, then using data and cross-functional communication to keep that system running smoothly and humanely. With a background spanning program operations, HR, and organizational development, I'm excited to bring that careful, systems-minded approach to Sierra as a Recruiting Coordinator.

At InGenius Prep, I keep the operational engine running: I coordinate program logistics and operations for 20+ programs across Marketing, Tech, and Sales teams, juggling multiple workstreams under tight timelines, and I maintain ATS (Greenhouse) and enrollment data accuracy, gathering the metrics that keep stakeholders on target. That habit of multitasking without dropping details—while keeping data clean and people informed—is exactly what a high-volume coordinator role demands.

At Vestas Wind Systems, I learned how much trust depends on tight scheduling and clear communication with senior leaders: I coordinated interview schedules and communications with senior leadership across employee relations, headcount, and succession-planning projects, while handling confidential information with discretion. Earlier, at Kronos Research, I delivered a best-in-class candidate experience through personalized outreach and customer service—work that helped increase applications by 566% in two months. I've used Greenhouse extensively and pick up new ATS platforms quickly, so Ashby would come naturally.

My approach is grounded in my MS in Applied Organizational Psychology (USC), which trained me to treat operations as a system: I diagnose with data where a process breaks down, collaborate cross-functionally on the fix, and track results to make sure they hold. As an analytical organizer with a growth mindset, Sierra's work bringing more human customer experiences to AI—and the chance to deliver an equally human experience to every candidate—are both genuine draws. I'd love to bring this methodology to your recruiting team.

Sincerely,

Jamie Cheng
