Dear University of Chicago BSD Hiring Team,

I was genuinely excited to come across the Onboarding Specialist role with the Biological Sciences Division's faculty recruiting and onboarding team. Guiding newly-hired faculty and physicians from offer acceptance through their first 90 days is exactly the kind of work I find most meaningful—being the steady, organized point of contact who makes a complex, high-stakes transition feel smooth and welcoming. Having spent my own career across academic and global organizations, I understand how much a thoughtful onboarding experience shapes someone's first impression of an institution, and I would be honored to bring that care to UChicago.

Onboarding coordination has been at the center of my work. At Vestas Wind Systems, I optimized onboarding across three global locations through process analysis and by clarifying responsibilities across the employee lifecycle, and I streamlined immigration and relocation processes by coordinating closely with immigration attorneys and cross-functional teams—the same kind of multi-party choreography across HR, legal, and operations that faculty onboarding requires. At InGenius Prep, I serve as the primary point of contact across 20+ concurrent initiatives, tracking completion and partnering with 10+ vendors and stakeholders, and I rebuilt our manual onboarding processes into standardized SOPs and a self-service knowledge base for 70+ staff that reduced onboarding time by 75%.

That combination of systems and documentation discipline maps directly to the heart of this role. I'm comfortable owning onboarding records, tracking documentation and training completion against deadlines, and coordinating the many moving pieces—IT setup, credentialing, payroll, benefits, ID and badge, workspace—so nothing slips. My HRIS experience spans Workday, SAP, Rippling, and ADP, and I pair that with a habit (my supervisor calls me "the most organized person he's ever worked with") of keeping detailed, accurate records that people can actually rely on. I also enjoy the communication side: at Kronos Research I coordinated recruiting and orientation touchpoints with university partners, and I'd bring that same warmth to faculty orientation communications.

What draws me specifically to UChicago BSD is the chance to do this work in service of clinicians and researchers whose first days set the tone for the care and discovery they'll lead for years. I'd love to be the person who makes that start seamless. As a note for transparency, I would require visa sponsorship, and I understand the University is able to support this. Thank you for considering my application—I'd welcome the chance to share more about how I can contribute to the team.

Warm regards,

Jamie Cheng
