Dear Tekmetric People & Culture Team,

I was excited to come across the People Operations Coordinator role at Tekmetric. The combination of recruiting coordination, onboarding logistics, and employee experience work reflects exactly the kind of operational and people-focused scope I thrive in—and the fact that Tekmetric proactively asks about sponsorship in the application signals a culture of transparency I genuinely appreciate.

My experience maps directly to each part of this role. At InGenius Prep, I manage end-to-end coordination for 20+ concurrent initiatives, build documentation and onboarding workflows that reduced onboarding time by 75% for 70+ staff, and run needs assessments with 25+ global stakeholders to keep programs running smoothly. At Vestas Wind Systems, I owned onboarding optimization across three global locations—conducting gap analyses, clarifying job responsibilities across the employee lifecycle, and supporting employee relations cases with attention to compliance and confidentiality. In both roles, I used AI tools and process redesign to reduce manual overhead, which directly aligns with Tekmetric's interest in AI-driven scheduling improvements. I also have working knowledge of HRIS platforms including SAP, Rippling, and ADP, and I'm proficient in Greenhouse as an ATS.

One honest note: while I've managed onboarding programs, I-9 verification has been a supporting function rather than a primary ownership area for me. I'm familiar with the process and confident I'd move up the curve quickly, but I wanted to be straightforward rather than overstate it.

Tekmetric's focus on building a strong candidate and employee experience through thoughtful coordination resonates with how I approach every operational touchpoint—as a place where people form their first impression of a company's culture. I'd bring a systematic, people-centered lens to this role and would be genuinely energized to help the People & Culture team scale well. I require H-1B sponsorship and am available to work fully remotely or hybrid from Portland.

Warm regards,

Jamie Cheng
